In an impactful step toward transforming public infrastructure and tackling critical property management challenges, MEC for Public Works and Infrastructure, MPL Dibolelo Mance, inaugurated a groundbreaking Property Road Show today in the Fezile Dabi District. The roadshow opened at the Council Chambers in Sasolburg, where MEC Mance addressed councillors and municipal officials, setting a bold vision for the district's underutilized public properties.

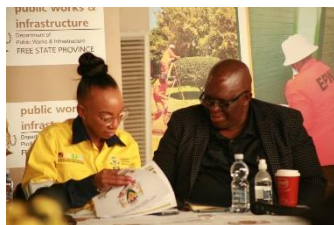

MEC Mance's next engagement took place at the Harry Gwala Multipurpose Centre in Zamdela, where she invited stakeholders, local business owners, and community members to explore opportunities within unoccupied public properties. Attendees were encouraged to propose initiatives to revitalize these spaces, supporting local business growth and community empowerment.

Joining MEC Mance were Fezile Dabi District Executive Mayor Cllr Dennis Khasudi, Metsimaholo Local Municipality Executive Mayor Cllr Jack Malindi, councillors, stakeholders, and officials from both the Municipality and the Department of Public Works and Infrastructure. Engaging presentations on property management highlighted innovative strategies for maximizing these assets, followed by a lively Q&A session where attendees shared ideas and proposals with the MEC.

This property roadshow marks a proactive approach by the Department to foster local economic empowerment, offering communities the tools to create sustainable business opportunities and shape the future of their localities.
